SOME WATERSIDE LIFE SAVING

CROWD THOUGHT IT WAS ALL UP WITH ARMORER BARRY

When a Scow Slammed Against the Sea Wall Over His Head and Teddy's-But Both Got Out Alive-Radley in His Best Clothes Saves Statue of Liberty. Teddy Regenstruck, 9 years old, was one of a number of little chaps who were having fun yesterday morning sliding down the side of a sand pile near the water's edge at the foot of East Twenty-fourth street. In getting up after a roll he tripped on the stringpiece and went overboard.

Arthur Barry, able seaman and armorer aboard the Naval Reserve ship Granite State, who was at breakfast aboard the old frigate moored to the recreation pier at Twenty-fourth street, went through an open port after Teddy. He had to swim around the stern of a sand scow and down a narrow stretch between it and the eea wall and he soon had the boy. Policeman John Neville lowered a rope to Barry. Barry grabbed it and was about to be dragged up when he let go and dropped back into the water.

An incoming ferry boat had raised a swell that banged the scow against the sea wall and he would have been caught if he hadn's and he would have been caught if he hadn's dropped.

The scow ground and creaked against the wall, with Barry and the boy out of sight. It seemed as if the scow would never swing back. Men kicked at it and tried with the strength of their legs to push the bulky craft away.

The men on the Granite State shinned down the archor chains dropped into a

The men on the Granite State shinned down the anchor chains, dropped into a hig sea skiff, rowed to the free end of the scow and shoved the nose of the skiff like a wedge into what little space there was between scow and wall. Slowly the space widened and the sea skiff was worked further in toward where Barry had last been seen. Then with a sudden and generous lurch, the scow swung out and Barry's head bobbed up above the surface. He still grasped the unconscious boy.

The men in the boat yanked them in in a siffy. A second rush of ferryboat waves forced the scow in again. The skiff was staunch, and, though her sides cracked and groaned, she blocked the road. Little time was lost in getting Barry and Teddy and groaned, she blocked the road. Little time was lost in getting Barry and Teddy abroad the Granite State. Barry revived quickly, and the boy had begun to show signs of life under first aid treatment when an ambulance arrived. The surgeon soon had the boy in fairly good shape. Teddy's distracted father, a tailor, living at 157 Ailen street, saw the whole rescue.

At 9:30 o'clock, yesterday morning Etta Kurvan, an eighteen-year-old Jewish girl, built on a large plan and living at 71 Market street, fell off the end of the recreation pier at the foot of that street. Frank Radley, a redheaded Irishman, about half her size, went in after her and got her about forty feet out.

her size, went in after her and got her about forty feet out.

Then his troubles began. Miss Kuryan was struggling violently. He menaged to grip her from behind and he pinned her arms to her sides. Then, swimming on his back, he made slowly toward the end of the pier. Policeman Charles Anderson threw out a large ring-shaped life buoy. Radley succeeded in getting the buoy under the girl's arms and with him pushing and Policemen Anderson and Sheehan pulling, she was soon on the pier.

Policemen Anderson and Sheehan pulling, she was soon on the pier.

She went to Gouverneur Hospital. Radlev didn't go home and change his clothes, principally because he had no other clothes. He is a boatman by profession and has pulled many persons out of the river. He sunned himself on the side of the pier and smoked his clay pipe while his clothes diried.

"Radlev,' says I to meself, 've've sayed the Statue of Liberty,' " was what Radley had to say about the rescue.

Policeman Frederick J. Eggers of the Union Market station went into the river after Miss Jennie Schecket who had fallen in. He caught her and the rescuer and the rescued were hauled to the pier by a dozen willing hands. Miss Schecket was none the worse. The cop's uniform was spoiled.

GONE FOR PAUL JONES'S BODY. Admiral Sigsbee's Squadron Satled Yesterday for Cherbourg.

Rear Admiral Sigsbee's squadron, consisting of the cruisers Brooklyn, Tacoma, Chattanooga and Galveston, which is Jones, left anchorage off Tompkinsville yesterday afternoon and put to sea, passing cut at the Hook at 3:10. Admiral sigsbee expects to make the trip in about thirteen days. The flagship Brooklyn can cover the distance in nine days, but she has to keep the pace of the slowest vessel of the squadron. The ceremonies attending the transfer of the body will take place in Paris about July 7, and the next day the equadron will sail for Chesapeake Bay, landing the body at Annapolis, where it will be buried.

An aged man who wandered into Bellevue Hospital on May 16 suffering with aphasia and who has been unable to recall his name or his address since that time was identified yesterday as George Mitchell, a farmer, of West Township, Albany county, New York. He was recognized by Samuel Forster of 310 Hicks street, Brooklyn, who had been searching for him.
Forster said that Mitchell had a similar attack twenty years ago. The hospital authorities communicated with his relatives.

Outing Party Finds a Baby

An outing party alighted from a trolley car on Avenue C, near the Morris Canal, Bayonne, N. J., yesterday, and headed for Currie's woods. As they neared the woods they were startled by the cries of a baby. Several women in the party made a search and found a healthy and well dressed two weeks old boy cuddled the in a pink worsted shawl and being up in a pink worsted shawl and being feasted upon by mosquitoss. The child lay in a clump of bushes. The police sent the waif to the Bayonne Hospital.

Several persons were hurt and many shaken up and frightened when two Brooklyn Rapid Transit trolley cars came into collision last evening a little after 10 o'clock near the Maspeth car barn in Maspeth, Queens. Six passengers were painfully injured, but all were able to go home after having their cuts and bruises dressed. Both cars were crowded with men and women who were homeward bound from the pionic grounds in Queens borough. The list of hurt as compiled by the police is as follows: Max Schiller of 287 East Third street, Marie Silderhardt of 142 Ludlow street, Sarah Lewis of 174 Madison street, Samuel Greenbaum of 355 East Tenth street, Max Graf of 247 Eldridge street, Annie Goodman of 170 Norfolk street, Jennie Mann of 107 Rivington street, all of Manhattan, and Joseph Dougherty of 1041 DeKalb avenue and Goldie Falsburg of 367 Rockaway avenue, the last two living in

ROWING.

News From Henley-What the Harlem Crews Did Yesterday.

The latest report from Henley is to the effect that the preparation of Leander for the visiting Vespers is progressing to suit the tastes of the most exacting Englishmen, and a crack crew has been selected. R. H. Nelson, an ex-Cambridge crack, will act as stroke and two other Cantab men in P. H. Thomas and B. R. Winthrop-Smith will have places in the crew. Then there is Guy Nickalls, for years famous as a sculler and several times winner of the Diamond Sculls. The others are F. J. Escombe, R. B. Etherington-Smith, H. A. Stewart and C. T. Stewart, a quartet of watermen of the front rank. Owing to this pick, Third Trinity Cambridge will be an absentee from the "Grand" and it is quartet of watermen of the front rank. Owing to this pick, Third Trinity Cambridge will be an absentee from the "Grand" and it is not yet known what will really come for the event from the colleges. Great care has been taken in picking the crew that will represent the London R. C. in the race, but the candidates have been sifted to nine men, all with splendid rowing records. They are: L. B. Cane, F. S. Whalley, E. W. Ormond, C. M. Treinbath, P. B. Freeman, C. V. Fox, E. D. Hay-Currie, W. R. Gaskell and G. R. Davies, who will stroke the boat. The crew of the Thames R. C. has been selected for some time. It is composed of men of a tried and true callber. They are: A. E. [Shellgrove, H. V. Mayoock, R. W. Roylance, W. S. Hallett, S. O. Pugh, S. Harrison-Jones, H. Messom and G. H. Kelly.

In case Scholes should turn up for the "Diamonds" F. S. Kelly of Oxford has had a long preparation under the special tuition of a Thames professional. Last year he underrated the Canadian and was not so well tuned up for sculling, as he had done a lot of sweep rowing which detracted from his speed more or less. The Oxionian has had a new shell built by Suns and is reported to be seming very last. But it appears he will not have matters so easy. C. Y. Fox, who broke the record for the Diamonds a few vears ago, has entered and the tussic between the pair is expected to be the feature of the soming Henley. The other entries are the stem of the soming the London R. C.; Guy Rixon, Kingston Z. C.; H. T. Blackstaffe and D. Fitte of the Vesta B. C. Two German scullers have entered.

The three regatts in July-Philadelphia, Long Island and New York Bay-are keeping the Harlem crews at work and despite the Jondon shad and New York Bay-are keeping the Harlem crews at work and despite the senior singles at the Quaker City, took a long pull as far as Fordham Heights Landing. Austin and Gardner of the Harlem Rowing Club furnished the sensation of the river yesterday. They were out in a double gig and a little north of the railroad bridge capsized, and the swift running current swept them into the abutment. They were poor swimmers and after an exciting rescue were landed safe on the Harlem float. Byan and O'Brien will carry the Harlem colors in the junior doubles at Philadelphia on July 4.

minutes, J. N. Norquinst of New York city, practically an unknown rider, yesterday won the fifty mile bicycle road race held over the Merrick road on Long Island, promoted by the Century Road Club of America. The course was from Vailey Stream to Bellmore and return. Two laps completed the distance, fifty miles. Nearly 5,000 persons saw the race, in which some of the best road riders in the United States started.

In spite of the high wind and a sandy stretch of road near the Bellmore end of the course, very fast time was made by the riders. First time prize went to August Huren, with a handicap of ten minutes, who covered the course in 2 hours 25 minutes 53 seconds. The finish between the scratch men was close. Only one-fifth of a second separated them at the tape. Charles Sherwood of the Pellet team led, and close behind him were Oscar Goerke of the National A. C., J. McEinstace, J. M. Einfler, H. L. Lind and Gus Perden. The usual number of spills occurred, but none of the riders was injured. There were eighty-seven starters, nearly all of whom finished. minutes, J. N. McGraw Swattel on the Head With an Umbrella-Touble Grows Out of Rag Chewing Correst Between Him and Cranks-Champions Lose to Cardinals.

St. Louis, June 8.—The New York team went off the field after losing to-day's game under a shower of missiles from the bleacherites. The touble arose from a rag chewing contest between the fans and McGraw, in which forcible but not particularly choice expletives were indulgid in. Some one threw half of a brick into the ranks of the New Yorks and another excied individual swatted McGraw over the heal with an umbrella. Police rushed in and quelled the disturbance, after making two arrests, and the New Yorks drove to their hotel. A grong force of policemen protected the visiters until they were well on their way to ther hotel.

on the series. The vistors started like giants, but in the seventh inning proved to be pygmies. St. Louis latted McGinnity all over the field in the seventh, eleven men facing the pitcher before theside was retired. Eight hits were made and seven runs registered. It was a sorry exhibition on the part of the Iron Man.

Browne swatted the first ball pitched to right field, and Donlin followed with a triple to the bulletin board on the first ball pitched him, scoring Browne, Mike registered on McGann's out to Shannon. Only once after this was a New Yorker within syrking distance of home. This was in the sixth, when Donlin tripled to left and was nalled at the plate when he and McGann attempted to pull off a double steal.

In the first five innings only fourteen Cardinals faced McGinnity. In the sixth Clarke doubled to left and the first of the locals came home on Shay's rap to right. In the seventh troubles for the Iron Man began. Arndt, the first man up, caught a ball in the ribs. The next two up were safe on bunts. Brain singled, scoring Arndt and Beckley. Brain piffered second and Clarke walked. Warner drove to right and Brain was thrown out at the plate. Taylor made a scratch hit, filling the bases. Clarke and Warner scored on Arndt's rap to right, Taylor taking third and coming home on a force out of Arndt. The score:

The Car That Laughs At Hills---The FORD

You've seen big, showy cars-pretentious in body-clattering noisily up a hill on the low gear—like taking a freight elevator to the sixteenth floor.

The idea has gone out of date.

Henry Ford exploded it.

He brought out cars of ample size; but built the bodies, as well as all other parts, light in weight; and put in motors of ample power.

Now FORD Cars are the "greyhounds" of the road. They take hills on the high gear. They are noiseless, vibrationlesseasy to run, and inexpensive to operate.

20-24 Horse 4-cylinder Ford Cars, $2000. 10-Horse Side-entrance Tonneau Ford Cars, $850.

IMMEDIATE DELIVERY. Demonstration at your con-Salesrooms in Basement of New South Building, And in the Old Guard Armory Building, 1623 Broadway.
